90.204 States' Economic Development Assistance Program

SEDAP,
FEDERAL AGENCY:

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

DELTA REGIONAL AUTHORITY

AUTHORIZATION:

12372

OBJECTIVES:

The Delta Regional Authority works to improve regional economic opportunity by helping to create jobs, build communities, and improve the lives of the 10 million people who reside in the 252 counties and parishes of the eight state Delta region. Led by the Delta Regional Authority Board- comprised of the Federal Co-Chairman, appointed by the President and confirmed by the U.S. Senate, and the governors of the eight states- the Delta Regional Authority fosters local and regional partnerships that address economic and social challenges to ultimately strengthen the Delta economy and the quality of life for Delta residents. Established in 2000 by Congress, the DRA makes strategic investments of federal appropriations into the physical and human infrastructure of Delta communities. Through the States' Economic Development Assistance Program, referred to as SEDAP, these investments help to improve transportation and basic public infrastructure and to strengthen our workforce development system and local business environments. The DRA supports job creation and economic development through innovative approaches to growing local and regional leadership, increasing access to quality healthcare, and boosting opportunities for entrepreneurs to obtain affordable capital.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Under federal law, at least 75 percent of DRA funds must be invested in economically distressed counties and parishes. Half of these funds are targeted to transportation and basic infrastructure improvements. The remaining funds are directed to DRAs other funding priorities of workforce development and business development with a focus on entrepreneurship. The DRA works closely with the 44 Local Development Districts in the DRA footprint that serve as front-line project managers to ensure community-relevant project development and investment. SEDAP investments emphasize job creation, regional collaboration, and health and safety for communities. Through 14 SEDAP funding cycles, the DRA has leveraged its $138.4 million of federal-state investments into nearly $3 billion in public and private investment into community-based and regional projects--investments that have helped to create and retain 26,000 jobs, train more than 7,200 Delta workers for 21st century jobs, and connect nearly 65,000 families to clean water and/or sewer service.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); The 252 counties and parishes served by the Delta Regional Authority make up the most distressed area of the country. According to the USDA, the most severe rates of poverty are historically found in the South, especially in the Mississippi River delta region. In fact, 4 of the 10 most impoverished counties and parishes in the country are located within the DRA footprint.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Anyone/general public; Local; Rural; Public nonprofit institution/organization; For more information, please visit the DRA website at www.dra.gov implications of inaction would result in immediate and detrimental health and/or safety issues for the constituents served. Projects posing an immediate health or safety risk which have already met at least one of the four funding categories (listed above) will be considered for funding ahead of all other applications.

Sufficient documentation must be provided from the appropriate state or federal agency (DEQ, EPA, etc.), specifically stating the cause or reason for the issue and the agency's concurrence that an immediate health or safety concern exists. 5.

Funding Partner Initiatives As DRA establishes federal partnerships, through program initiatives, designed to provide supplemental funding support, DRA will Specific notices of funding opportunity require additional research-related and administrative documentation, and may also require safety, environmental, and other regulatory documentation prior to the award of any grant or cooperative agreement. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. Each notice of funding opportunity specifies applicable pre-application requirements. Notices of funding opportunity typically require the applicants Principal Investigator to submit a pre-application through the Electronic Biomedical Research Application Portal (eBRAP, available at <https://eBRAP.org/>). Pre-applications are screened for military relevance and technical merit against criteria stated in each notice of funding opportunity. The second tier is a programmatic review that makes recommendations for funding based on technical merit, military relevance, the specific intent of the funding opportunity, and any other criteria specified in the notice of funding opportunity. The best-scoring applications from the first tier of review are not automatically recommended for funding. Award amount will be negotiated for those applications recommended for funding. Awards depend upon the availability of funding and priorities which USAMRMC determines to exist at the time of award. Only the Grants Officer has the authority to issue awards and obligate funds on behalf of the Federal government.

12.582 Office for Reintegration Programs

Yellow Ribbon Reintegration Program,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

Office of the Secretary of Defense, DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE

AUTHORIZATION:

2008 National Defense Authorization Act, Public Law 110-181, Sec. 582, 2016 National Defense Authorization Act, Public Law 114-92, Sec. 551

OBJECTIVES:

To conduct data collection, trend analysis, and curriculum development and to prepare reports in support of activities under Section 582 of Public Law 110-181, Sec. 582 (2008), as amended by Public Law 114-92 (2016).

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements, Project Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Statutory authority for issuing grants is provided to the Office for Reintegration Programs (ORP), Yellow Ribbon Reintegration Program (YRRP), through Public Law 110-181, Sec. 582 (2008), as amended by Public Law 114-92 (2016) stating that the Office for Reintegration Programs may make grants to conduct data collection, trend analysis, and curriculum development and to prepare reports in support of activities under this section. The National Defense Authorization Act of 2008 established the Yellow Ribbon Reintegration Program (YRRP) to assist National Guard and Reserve members as they transition between their military and civilian roles. By providing deployment cycle information, resources, and programs, YRRP addresses the unique challenges facing the Guard and Reserve community, including geographic dispersion away from military support networks and fewer deployment resources than the Active Component. YRRP events provide National Guard and Reserve Service members and those who support them with dynamic and engaging delivery of information before, during, and after deployments. Events connect attendees with local information on health care, education/training opportunities, and financial and legal benefits. These resources help to prepare and guide attendees through the hardships of deployment, then enable Service members to successfully reintegrate back into their families, communities and careers.

Applicant Eligibility:

Government - General; Federal; Interstate; Intrastate; State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Sponsored organization; Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other public institution/organization; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; U.S. Territories and possessions; U.S. Territories and possessions (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Non-Government - General; Individual/Family; Minority group; Specialized group (e.g. health professionals, students, veterans); Small business (less than 500 employees); Profit organization; Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Quasi-public nonprofit institution/organization; Other private institutions/organizations; State; Anyone/general public; Native American Organizations (includes Indian groups, cooperatives, corporations, partnerships, associations); The Yellow Ribbon Reintegration Program is a DoD-wide effort to promote the well-being of National Guard and Reserve members, their families and communities, by connecting them with resources throughout the deployment cycle. Through Yellow Ribbon events, Service members and loved ones connect with local resources before, during, and after deployments. Reintegration during post-deployment is a critical time for members of the National Guard and Reserve, as they often live far from military installations and other members of their units. Commanders and leaders play a critical role in assuring that Reserve Service members and their families attend Yellow Ribbon events where they can access information on health care, education and training opportunities, financial, and legal benefits. We work in government and non-government partners, including the Small Business Administration and Departments of Labor and Veterans Affairs, to provide up-to-date and relevant information to the members of the All-Volunteer force and their families. Eligible applicants must be able to satisfy the needs of the Office for Reintegration Programs as outline in Public Law 110-181, Sec. 582

12.610 Community Economic Adjustment Assistance for Compatible Use and Joint Land Use Studies

FEDERAL AGENCY:

OFFICE OF ECONOMIC ADJUSTMENT, DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE AUTHORIZATION:

10 U.S.C. 2391.

OBJECTIVES:

Assist State and local governments to mitigate or prevent incompatible civilian land use/activity that is likely to impair the continued operational utility of a Department of Defense (DoD) military installation. Grantees and participating governments are expected to adopt and implement the study recommendations.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Respond to encroachment of the civilian community that is likely to impair the continued operational utility of the military installation through a Compatible Use or Joint Land Use Study. The State and/or local government partners with the military installation to plan and carry out strategies promoting compatible civilian development adjacent to installations, ranges, and military flight corridors. The study includes a strategic plan with specific implementation actions to ensure civilian growth and development are compatible with vital training, testing, and other military missions.

Applicant Eligibility:

Interstate; Intrastate; State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Applicants for this assistance are to contact the Office of Economic Adjustment and a Project Manager will be assigned to work with the applicant to determine eligibility for assistance under this program. States, counties, municipalities, other political subdivisions of a State, and special purpose units of a State or local government are eligible for this assistance if the Director, Office of Economic Adjustment determines that the encroachment of the civilian community is likely to impair the continued operational utility of the military installation.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

State; Local; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; States and communities, including local property owners, as well as the local military installation.

Credentials/Documentation:

Applicants will be required to provide documentation consistent with the authority under which the assistance is being sought. Applicants must document their intent to work with the Military Department, Federal, State, and local officials, residents, businesses, and landowners to cooperatively participate in the development and implementation of a strategic plan and specific implementation measures to ensure civilian growth and development are compatible with the continued operational utility of the military installation. Applicants also must show evidence that the proposed planning process and implementation measures will prevent further encroachment on the military installation. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is eligible for coverage under E.O. 12372,

"Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs." An applicant should consult the office or official designated as the single point of contact in his or her State for more information on the process the State requires to be followed in applying for assistance, if the State has selected the program for review. When in receipt of a Military Department nomination, the Office of Economic Adjustment Director will notify the Installation Commander that an Office of Economic Adjustment Project Manager will schedule a visit to provide a program overview and confirm the Installation Commanders support to engage the affected local governments and/or State in a Joint Land Use Study. The Project Manager also will validate encroachment of the civilian community that is likely to impair the continued operational utility of the military installation. After confirming installation support for the Joint Land Use Study and validating civilian encroachment, the Project Manager then will proceed to engage the affected local governments and/or State to confirm their interest and support to undertake the study and carry out the study recommendations. Once support from the Installation Commander and affected local governments and/or State is confirmed, the Project Manager will work with the local governments and/or State to craft an effective and responsive program of assistance to ensure civilian growth and development are compatible with the continued operational utility of the military installation. The Office of Economic Adjustment also may provide community planning assistance to help prevent the siting of energy projects from adversely affecting Department of Defense test, training, and military operations. The Office of Economic Adjustment will consider on a continuing basis, subject to available appropriations, proposals for grant assistance to support communities, regions, and states to assist in the siting of energy project investments so they do not impair the continued operational utility of a Department of Defense installation. Commercial development of energy projects may affect unique military activities and readiness, especially when located near installations, ranges, or on lands beneath designated military training routes or special use airspace. State and local governments can support effective collaboration, early engagement and dialog between the Department of Defense and energy developers to ensure proposed energy projects may proceed without compromising the military missions. A proposal must respond to the need to ensure proposed energy projects may proceed without compromising Department of Defense test, training, and military operations, to include radar interference from wind turbines; low-level flight obstructions associated with tall structures such as solar power towers and wind turbine projects; electromagnetic interference from high voltage electrical transmission lines; and glint and glare impacts to flight operations associated with solar photovoltaic arrays or power tower projects near military airfields. 84.268 Federal Direct Student Loans

FEDERAL AGENCY:

OFFICE OF FEDERAL STUDENT AID, EDUCATION, DEPARTMENT OF

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

AUTHORIZATION:

Higher Education Act of 1965, as amended, Title IV, Part D

OBJECTIVES:

To provide loan capital directly from the Federal government to vocational, undergraduate, and graduate postsecondary school students and their parents.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Direct Loans

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

To help defray costs of education at participating institutions. Repayment on Federal Stafford loans begins six months after the student ceases to carry at least one-half the normal full-time academic workload. Repayment of principal and interest on PLUS loans generally begins within 60 days of disbursement of the last installment; repayment of a Consolidation loan begins within 60 days after the proceeds of the loan have been used to discharge the liability of the borrower on the loans selected for consolidation. Deferments and forbearance of payment may be granted for certain authorized periods.

Applicant Eligibility:

Individual/Family; The applicant must be a U.S. citizen, national, or person in the United States for other than a temporary purpose. A student borrower must be enrolled or accepted for enrollment in a degree or certificate program on at least a half-time basis as an undergraduate, graduate, or professional student at a participating postsecondary institution. An otherwise eligible student is eligible for loans during a single twelve-month period in which the student is enrolled in a non-degree/non-certificate course of study that the institution has determined is necessary in order for the student to enroll in a program leading to a degree or certificate. Under the Direct PLUS program, parents may borrow for dependent undergraduate students. Also, graduate and professional students are eligible to borrow PLUS Loans. Direct Unsubsidized and PLUS loans are available to eligible borrowers regardless of need. However, a financial needs test based on family income is required for an undergraduate student to receive a Direct Subsidized loan. A student that is presently enrolled at a participating institution must be maintaining satisfactory academic progress in the course of study that they are pursuing. The borrower may not owe a refund on any Title IV grant or be in default on any Title IV loan received for attendance at any institution. The borrower must also file a Statement of Registration compliance (Selective Service).

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Individual/Family; Education Professional; Student/Trainee; Graduate Student; Education (13+); Vocational, undergraduate, and graduate postsecondary school students and their parents.

Credentials/Documentation:

The borrower will need certification of eligibility from the institution and may be required to supply documentation to verify the accuracy of data used in the Direct Subsidized loan need analysis. This program is excluded from coverage under 2 CFR 200, Subpart E - Cost Principles.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is not applicable.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Applications for the Direct Subsidized and Unsubsidized loans are obtained from the institution. Direct consolidation loan applications are obtained from the Department of Education. To obtain a Direct Subsidized or Unsubsidized loan, a student shall complete and submit a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). All applications (with the exception of PLUS) for Direct Loans are processed by the Central Processor System (CPS) in the initial step to determine a student's Title IV eligibility. Institutions will receive official output from the CPS, and then will be able to assemble a financial aid award package. An institution participating in the Direct Loan program may award Direct Loans as part of the financial aid package. If a Direct Loan is not included in the aid package, a student may contact the institution to request loan information.

Award Procedure:

Institutions participate in the Direct Loan program either by originating loans or by using an alternative originator to originate loans. The institution must certify the borrower's eligibility to receive the funds. To obtain a Direct PLUS Loan, the parent completes an application and authorizes a credit check. If the parent does not have an adverse credit history, the loan may be disbursed. Institutions may disburse funds by crediting them directly to the student's account at the institution, issuing a check or cash, or by initiating an electronic funds transfer.

Deadlines:

Contact the headquarters or regional location, as appropriate for application deadlines.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

Not Applicable.

Appeals:

Renewals:

Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory formula is not applicable to this assistance listing. Matching requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing. MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

Applicants may apply for a loan for any year of attendance at a postsecondary institution. Starting July 1, 2013, the interest rate on new Stafford Loans is fixed at a rate equal to the 10-year Treasury note plus 2.05 percent (capped at 8.25 percent); new Unsubsidized Stafford loans have a fixed interest rate equal to the 10-year Treasury note plus 3.6 percent (capped at 9.5 percent); and Direct PLUS loans have a fixed interest rate equal to the 10-year Treasury note plus 4.6 percent (capped at 10.5 percent). Generally, there are four types of repayment plans that are available to Direct Loan borrowers: (1) A standard repayment plan with a fixed monthly payment amount over a period of up to 10 years; (2) an extended repayment plan with a fixed monthly payment amount paid over a period of 12 to 30 years, depending on the amount owed; (3) a graduated repayment plan with a monthly payment that will increase generally every 2 years. The repayment period varies from 12 to 30 years, depending on the amount owed; and (4) except for Direct PLUS Loan borrowers, income-driven repayment plans such as the income contingent repayment (ICR) plan with a monthly payment that is adjusted annually based on the income of the borrower and paid over an extended period of time not to exceed 25 years. Any unpaid balance remaining after 25 years in the ICR plan is forgiven by the Secretary of Education. However, under current IRS rules, the amount written off is considered taxable income to the borrower in the year it is written off. In 2007, a new income-based repayment plan was created for those borrowers meeting a standard of "partial financial hardship" based on their annual repayment amount in relation to their adjusted gross income. Generally a borrower would not have to repay on a monthly basis more than 15 percent of their discretionary income, and any outstanding balance would be forgiven after 25 years of repayment. For new borrowers on or after July 1, 2014, these limits have been lowered to 10 percent of discretionary income and forgiveness after 20 years of repayment. Additionally, two new income-driven repayment plans extended those benefits to all qualified student borrowers. First, as of December 21, 2012, the Pay As You Earn (PAYE) plan, is an option for those who meet the partial financial hardship standard, were a new borrower as of October 1, 2007, and who received a Direct Loan disbursement on or after October 1, 2011. Second, as of December 17, 2015, the Revised Pay As You Earn (REPAYE) plan became available to all qualified student borrowers regardless of when they borrowed and did not require a partial financial hardship for reduced payments. Direct Loan borrowers who work in public service are eligible for forgiveness during a 10-year period while they are repaying their loans. If these borrowers, during repayment, have an outstanding loan balance after 10 years of working in public service, the Federal Government will forgive the remaining balance on behalf of the borrower. Public service may include a variety of public disciplines such as education, health, law, military service and public safety. Method of awarding/releasing assistance: other

The Solar Ready Vets program connects our nations skilled veterans to the solar energy industry, preparing them for careers as solar photovoltaic (PV) system installers, sales representatives, system inspectors, and other solar-related occupations. Solar Ready Vets is enabled by the U.S. Department of Defense SkillBridge initiative, which allows exiting military personnel to pursue civilian job training, employment skills training, apprenticeships, and internships up to six months prior to their separation. Employment in the U.S. solar industry increased 123% since 2010, and veterans are strong candidates to fill solar positions because they are disciplined, motivated, and technically savvy. Solar Ready Vets trains active military personnel who are in transitioning military status within a few months of leaving military service and becoming a veteran and it prepares them to be strong candidates for positions in management, PV installation, sales, as well as technical positions.

81.139 Environmental Management R&D and Validation Testing on High Efficiency Particulate Air (HEPA) Filters

Environmental Management R&D,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

ENERGY, DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

The activity conducted under this award is authorized pursuant to: The Department of Energy Act, Public Law 95-91, 42 U.S.C. 7256, in conjunction with 42 U.S.C. 7112

OBJECTIVES:

EM research and development and validation testing (R&DT) provides necessary investments in mid- to long-range activities to address the technological gaps in defense environmental cleanup, including: (1) radioactive liquid and solid waste treatment, storage and disposal; (2) soil and groundwater remediation; (3) nuclear materials and spent fuel management and disposition; (4) facility deactivation and decommissioning; and (5) public, worker, facility/asset, and environmental safety and security. EM R&DT investments seek high-payoff, game-changing technologies and innovations to positively impact EMs program lifecycle baseline by: (1) reducing costs; (2) accelerating schedules; (3) mitigating mission uncertainties, vulnerabilities, and risks; and (4) minimizing the mortgage associated with long-term, post-closure and post-completion stewardship. EM R&DT also provides the opportunity to perform work and operate facilities more effectively and in a manner that assures public, worker and environmental safety. New and novel technologies as well as innovative solutions are needed to address the significant challenges associated with the remaining nuclear cleanup work that will span the next five decades. The program encompasses the entire maturation lifecycle of technology which includes transfer of technologies from other nuclear and non-nuclear industry sectors. EMs technology portfolio will leverage and harness the expertise, resources, and capabilities of US universities and colleges. Academia will support EM in four distinct roles: (1) as an expert-based resource for conducting early-stage and applied scientific research and for providing engineering solutions; (2) as a pool of recognized subject matter experts to support technical peer reviews and independent technical assessments; (3) as incubators and pipelines for EMs future workforce; and (4) as a source of independent testing, verification, and confirmatory evaluation. EM will work to improve the technical training of its workforce through Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math (STEM) education, experiential learning, and apprenticeships. EM R&DT supports the safety and quality of permanent containment and confinement ventilation systems as well as modular worksite and breathing-zone ventilation systems used to support nuclear, radiological, chemical, and other high-consequence facility and environmental operations. Future funds will be executed to: (1) conduct basic and early-stage applied research, particularly in areas that lead to the basis of the development, transfer and industrial utilization (commercialization) of new clean air technologies; (2) perform design-specification and quality control inspection, testing and evaluation of existing, newly available, and emerging designs of High-Efficiency Particulate Air (HEPA) filters and other air filtration technologies; (3) perform testing and evaluation of HEPA filter performance in design-basis and off-normal operating conditions as well as in scenarios of major plant or system failures; (4) perform computer modeling and computational (numerical) simulation of airflow dynamics, including multiphase flow, particle tracking, evaporation, combustion, convection, conduction, and radiation heat transfer; (5) perform in-depth engineering analysis of complex fluid flows, including detailed flow characteristics such as velocity, pressure, turbulence, temperature, and species concentration for internal or external flows; (6) support the research and development of new and plant-specific designs of air filtration technologies, including in-line sensors and measurement devices; and (7) complementary and alternative technologies, such as robotics and remote systems, to support the inspection and maintenance of ventilation systems as critical infrastructure. As air filtration systems perform critical safety functions in many high-consequence facilities, continued focus on the quality of commercial, off-the-self technologies as well as on the advancing state-of-the-art must be maintained to assure safety and quality in environmental management operations. Specific to HEPA filters, R&DT under various normal and upset test conditions will help determine valuable operational information (i.e., develop suggested controls and operational methods, and identify failure modes) that can be applied at various commercial and Government/military facilities that treat, store, or process nuclear material or waste streams (e.g. commercial nuclear power facilities), or filter out hazardous particulates or dust for commercial microelectronic clean rooms or hospital operations. This R&DT may increase the protective nature of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers (ASME) AG-1 Code (Code on Nuclear Air and Gas Treatment), enhance the ability of professionals to design filters and air filtration systems, and reduce uncertainty in the development of standard operating procedures for facilities involved in nuclear containment ventilation activities. Improving the durability of HEPA filters used in nuclear containment is a key component in protecting the worker and general population in the event of a fire at a nuclear facility, particularly segments of the population near nuclear facilities.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2017: NASEO: Under task 3, NASEO hosted a webinar on Energy Workforce Development for NASEO members and key partners, including 18 State Energy Office registrants. Under task 3, NASEO provided written briefing to EPSA on importance of energy workforce development to advancing State Energy Office energy policy goals and priorities. They also developed expanded workforce-focused workplan for EPSA consideration. Under task 4, NASEO organized a small group conference call with seven states to discuss data, metrics, and impact tracking associated with comprehensive state energy planning. NGA: NGA researched a wide array of sources and assessed the major policy and regulatory developments in all states in the target areas. NCSL: Under task 1.1, NCSL has drafted outlines of the two Energy Water Nexus papers, one on thermoelectric cooling and one on lifecycle water responsibility in oil and gas production. NCSL has participated on a number of phone calls and researched source materials for both papers. NCSL has been working directly with EPSA to revise the draft outline and participated on multiple calls with NASEO to discuss the best approach and share resources. Under task 1.6, NCSL rewrote a comprehensive report examining the current state of nuclear power in the U.S. and what the spate of recent nuclear plant closures means for the U.S. energy mix. The report highlights the role that state legislatures play and policy options for states that wish to retain their current nuclear fleet. This report was originally ready for publication in August 2016. At EPSA's request, NCSL held the report until the release of the QER. Given the topic and developing actions related to nuclear power, NCSL rewrote the report with updated information and state examples. Under task 1.7, NCSL answered a number of information requests from state legislators and legislative staff related to nuclear power. In particular, NCSL answered 3 requests asking for a summary of state legislation that had been proposed or enacted by state legislatures that would support the operation of nuclear power plants. Another request asked for information on new nuclear power projects, along with state legislation that supported new nuclear power developments. In addition, several requests asked for detailed information regarding Illinois; S.B. 2814, the Future Energy Jobs Bill, which among other things, provides support to struggling nuclear power plants. Under task 1.1, NCSL has received comments on and revised outlines of the two Energy-Water Nexus papers: Thermoelectric Cooling Water in Oil and Gas Production. NCSL is in the process of researching and drafting the papers. NCSL worked directly with EPSA during outline revisions and participated on calls with NASEO to discuss the best approach and share resources. Under task 1.6, NCSL published the report State Options to Keep Nuclear in the Energy Mix. This report provides extensive background and discussion on issues that have led to the premature closure of existing nuclear power generation and provides information on state policies which support existing nuclear power. The report was published as a PDF online and 1,000 copies were printed as well. In addition, NCSL published a blog to promote the report. Under task 1.7, NCSL answered a number of information requests from state legislators and legislative staff related to nuclear power and testified on the topic. NCSL staff testified on nuclear retention issues and state policy actions before the newly created Pennsylvania Nuclear Energy Caucus. It is the first bipartisan, bicameral nuclear caucus in the country. Under task 1.8, NCSL continued to update the database on a biweekly basis and has entered and summarized all energy-water nexus related bills as well as nuclear generation bills in all 50 states, commonwealths and territories. They received nearly 650 web page visits per month on average. NARUC: NARUC hosted a meeting to discuss Emerging Electricity Technologies and a Smart Grid Federal-State Jurisdictional Boundaries and Opportunities for State Action. The meeting addressed two major questions: 1. What are the flash points of federal-state jurisdiction on emerging electricity technologies? 2. How should the National Council on Electricity Policy (NCEP) representing the states address these flash points? What can and should the NCEP do? NARUC staff initiated a research project under direction from the EPSA office regarding the aftermath of significant rate increases on state commissions. Starting from an assumption that commissioners who oversee large electric rate or bill increases may find themselves out of a job if a set of extenuating circumstances simultaneously occur, NARUC embarked on a series of interviews with current and former commissioners and a data gathering process to: (1) build more context around commissioner duration and turnover, (2) study the incidence of significant rate or bill increases, and (3) define extenuating circumstances such as media scrutiny, political gridlock, additional infrastructure issues, and other characteristics that may ameliorate or amplify the blowback of a rate or bill increase on commissioners. Fiscal Year 2018: Complete initiated projects.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2017: Projects are underway, the program accomplishments will be available when reporting is completed. See current results at www.epa.gov/airtrends. Annual emissions estimates are used as one indicator of the effectiveness of our programs. Between 1980 and 2014, gross domestic product increased 147 percent, vehicle miles traveled increased 97 percent, energy consumption increased 26 percent, and U.S. population grew by 41 percent. During the same time period, total emissions of the six principal air pollutants dropped by 63 percent. Between 1980 and 2013, CO₂ emissions increased by 17 percent. Each year EPA tracks the levels of these pollutants in the air and how much of each pollutant (or the pollutants that form them) is emitted from various pollution sources. The agency looks at these numbers year after year to see how the pollutants have changed over time. Fiscal Year 2018: Projects are underway, the program accomplishments will be available when reporting is completed. See current results at www.epa.gov/airtrends. Annual emissions estimates are used as one indicator of the effectiveness of our programs. Between 1980 and 2014, gross domestic product increased 147 percent, vehicle miles traveled increased 97 percent, energy consumption increased 26 percent, and U.S. population grew by 41 percent. During the same time period, total emissions of the six principal air pollutants dropped by 63 percent. Between 1980 and 2013, CO₂ emissions increased by 17 percent. Each year EPA tracks the levels of these pollutants in the air and how much of each pollutant (or the pollutants that form them) is emitted from various pollution sources. The agency looks at these numbers year after year to see how the pollutants have changed over time.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

The criteria for awarding air pollution control program assistance grants are provided in the 1990 Clean Air Act, Section 105, and set forth in State and local assistance grant regulations (40 CFR 35). Some of the criteria considered for award include the following: 1) No grant may be awarded unless the program contained in the grant application meets the requirements of Section 35.140 (program purposes and associated regulations) and has been approved by the Regional Administrator. Sections 35.104 and 35.107 describe what an agency needs to do to prepare an adequate application. This usually includes the use of annual program technical and grant guidance from EPA and is generally done in consultation with the EPA Regional Office. 2) No grant may be awarded until the Regional Administrator has consulted with the official designated by the Governor(s) of the State(s) affected by such award pursuant to Section 105(b) of the Clean Air Act. Such consultation should consider the role of the applicant in the enforcement of any applicable implementation plan and confirm that the applicant's program will be generally compatible with the objectives of the applicable implementation plan. 3) The requirements of this Section shall not apply to Indian Tribes that have established eligibility pursuant to Section 35.573 and intertribal agencies made up of such Tribes. 4) No grant may be awarded unless the Regional Administrator has determined that the agency has adequate air pollution control authority and necessary regulations to implement such authority. announcement.

Award Procedure:

Each state or tribal SIRG application is subjected to an administrative and prior period performance evaluation to determine the recipient's eligibility to receive continued funding. An applicant's proposed projects and work plan are evaluated for projected results and alignment with the Agency's radon program goals and priorities. SIRG award decisions are non-competitive and made at the EPA Regional level, based on a formula moderated by Regional management discretion utilizing prior performance and results. A state or tribe able to provide the required 25% in matching funds (first year of participation only) and 40% in matching funds (every subsequent year) is eligible to apply to the Regional EPA office for a grant.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2017: In FY17, EPA awarded 10 regional SIRG grants totaling $7,911,000. In calendar year 2017, an estimated 443,373 existing homes were mitigated to reduce high radon levels and approximately 95,752 homes were built with radon-reducing features. Much of this progress resulted from the work of coalitions and partnerships comprised of local governments, national and local non-profit organizations, industry, radon advocates and other leaders. The SIRG program continues to stress the importance of achieving and measuring results in: the number of homes, schools, and other buildings mitigated for radon; in the number of new homes and schools built with radon-reducing features. Recipients are required to include the SIRG results measures template in their work plans, and projects with clear risk reduction benefits are to be preferred over projects projected to have lesser risk reducing results.

REGULATIONS, GUIDELINES, AND LITERATURE:

EPA regulations that govern State activities under the SIRG Program are contained in the following Parts of 40 CFR: (1) Part 4, "Implementation of the Uniform Relocation Assistance and Real Property Acquisition Policies Act of 1980"; (2) Part 7, "Nondiscrimination in Programs Receiving Federal Assistance from the Environmental Protection Agency"; (3) Part 29, "Intergovernmental Review of Environmental Protection Agency Programs and Activities"; (4) Uniform Grant Guidance 2 CFR 200, "Uniform Administrative Requirements for Grants and Cooperative Agreements to State and Local Governments"; (5) Part 32, "Debarment and Suspension under EPA Assistance Programs"; and (6) Part 35, "State and Local Assistance". EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2017 1) Testing and remediation of schools in high-risk radon areas, 2) Homes tested and mitigated in high-risk radon areas, 3) New homes built with radon-resistant construction, 4) State and county municipalities adopting radon-reducing code language, 5) States and tribes developed educational materials and/or engaged in outreach events for medical professionals on radon risks, 6) States and tribes distributed free or low-cost radon test kits through the medical communities and to local residents. 2018 1. Promoting radon awareness through the medical community, state cancer control plans, child care providers and real estate transactions; 2. Informing local school systems about radon exposure risk in schools and providing sample school testing and mitigation plans; 3. Providing training and technical support on voluntary consensus standards for radon testing and mitigation, and identifying and spreading best practices for building homes radon resistant and adopting radon in building codes. Priority consideration will be given to actions which: promote adoption of radon in building codes for single family homes, awareness building activities targeting homebuyers and/or utilization of an established process to ensure appropriate credentialing of radon testing and mitigation service providers. 2019 SIRG funds are not requested in the FY19 President's Budget.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

The EPA will base its review of SIRG applications on whether they reflect program goals and promote integrity through a states use of grant funds. Pursuant to TSCA Section 306(e), if state applications exceed the funds appropriated for award in a fiscal year, EPA will prioritize state activities based on the following criteria: (1) the seriousness and extent of the radon contamination problem to be addressed; (2) the potential for the activity or project to bring about reduction in radon levels; (3) the potential for the development of innovative radon assessment techniques, mitigation measures as approved by the Administrator, or program management approaches which may be of use to other States; (4) the potential for the activity to implement EPA's model radon-resistant building standards; (5) the potential for the development of radon programs in high-risk areas; and (6) the potential for the activity to improve the effectiveness and viability of the State program. EPA may establish additional criteria related to demonstration activities or other aspects of the SIRG program. .

regions designated pursuant to Section 106 (interstate pollution) or Section 111 (interstate ozone pollution) of the Clean Air Act of 1990. The Ozone Transport Commission (OTC or the Commission) is the single regional multi-state organization created under the Clean Air Act Amendments of 1990 (CAA) responsible for advising the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) on ground-level ozone and its precursor pollutant transport issues. The Commission is also responsible by law for developing and implementing regional solutions to the ground-level ozone problem in the Northeast and Mid-Atlantic States. As directed under the CAA, EPA awarded a grant to establish the Commission, and has subsequently maintained funding of the Commission with funds appropriated by the Congress to state and local air pollution control agencies under Section 106 of the CAA, as well as EPA program funds. Section 184 of the CAA established the Ozone Transport Region (OTR) that, by law, develops and recommends regional strategies for cleaning up air pollution. The OTC membership established under Section 176A of the CAA includes, at a minimum, the Governor of each State in the region or the designee of each such Governor, the EPA Administrator or the Administrator's designee, the EPA Regional Administrator (or the Administrator's designee) for each Regional Office for each Region affected by the transport region concerned, and an air pollution control official representing each State in the region, appointed by the Governor. The OTC member jurisdictions are: Connecticut, Delaware, the District of Columbia, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont, and Virginia. The EPA representatives are non-voting members of the Commission. The combination of EPA active participation and funding are critical to the continued effectiveness of the OTC in working collaboratively to address ozone transport in the Eastern United States. Funding Priority - Fiscal Year 2019: The OTC states continue to face significant challenges in preparing SIPs for the attainment of the 2008 and the 2015 Ozone U.S. National Ambient Air Quality Standards (NAAQS). These challenges are highlighted by the recent increases in monitored ozone levels and will require a greater level of regional support and coordination from the OTC. The member states rely on OTC work products, particularly sound science, to meet their individual SIP obligations. The coordinated and collaborative effort of OTC's Committees represents the most efficient, cost effective, and in certain cases the only possible means to assemble all the necessary elements of an attainment plan for OTC States. The OTC will continue to take a leadership role in coordinating with other Regional Planning Organizations (RPOs), contributing States, and EPA offices to assist in the resolution of ozone transport issues under CAA section 110 (a)(2)(D). Despite many successes, large population areas within the OTR are remain in high need of focused efforts to provide health protections from high ozone exposure. The OTC Work Plan is focused on collaboration and partnerships that improve efficiency, effectiveness, and overall consistency among states in addressing ozone pollution in the region. Administratively, the OTC has continuously streamlined and modernized operations to provide the efficient and effective management of limited resources. The Modeling Committee facilitates the coordination of the photochemical modeling and emissions inventory work of the OTC States. The grant provides necessary technical resources to ensure management and technical assistance for this coordination among member states and collaboration with other states, EPA and stakeholders. The modeling work begins with developing an emissions inventory of ozone precursor emissions for a base year, along with a reproduced meteorological field for that same year. The emissions inventory and meteorological field data are processed and run through a photochemical model to predict the ozone readings at air quality monitors. These predictions are then compared to actual data on ozone levels collected at the monitors for the same period to validate the performance of the model. The modeling and emissions inventory work in the OTC is coordinated by the Modeling Committee to ensure that States are able to complete the work accurately and on time. Both the emissions inventory and modeling work are decentralized across States and other planning organizations, requiring considerable commitment of resources, coordination, and oversight. Ongoing activities include: Developing regional models of ozone concentrations in collaboration with the OTC States to achieve consistency in the final results. The OTC also coordinates with other RPOs, upwind States, and the EPA to achieve this goal. Improving the modeling tools available: The OTC also works to improve the suite of modeling tools available in order to make the process of modeling quicker, more transparent, and more accurate. OTC has also been a leader for an inter-regional effort to respond to the 110 good neighbor provisions required by the CAA. OTC has also initiated an effort to understand ozone patterns where land and water meet. This effort led to suggesting alternatives to how these areas could be represented in photochemical models. States and EPA are now actively working to prepare a new modeling platform and emissions inventories to help shape the technical support of policies and strategies to improve air quality.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2018: The Stationary and Area Source (SAS) Committee and the Mobile Source Committee (MSC) continued to develop draft model rules for regional ozone control measures. During this quarter, the SAS Committee workgroups worked on addressing the charges given by the Commission at the 2017 Fall Meeting. The main charge required the Committee to perform technical analyses to calculate & document emissions reductions and develop cost estimates for the three SAS strategies formalized in the Good Neighbor State Implementation Plan (GN SIP) Resolution. The emissions reductions from these strategies which cover sources inside & outside of the OTR will be used in photochemical modeling to help OTC states include these measures in their GN SIPs. The Largest Contributors Workgroup worked on two of these strategies, i.e. calculating emissions reductions from and costs of: 1. optimizing the use of existing SCR or SNCR NOx control technology on coal-fired EGUs each day of ozone season, and 2. installing SCR or SNCR control technology on uncontrolled coal-fired EGUs & optimize use of such technology each day of the ozone season. Results of photochemical modeling (which is currently underway) and cost estimates (which are ready) will be presented to the Commission in the June meeting. The Control Measures Workgroup is working on the 3rd strategy which deals with calculating the emissions reductions gained from adopting the OTC Model Rule for Control of NOx Emissions From Natural Gas Pipeline Compressor Fuel-Fired Prime Movers in GN SIPs. This work is ongoing and the results are expected before the June meeting. In addressing the standing SAS charge requiring periodic updates of the OTC Model Rule on Consumer Products, the Consumer Products Workgroup revised and updated the current (Phase IV) Consumer Products Model Rule based on California standards. The new Phase V Model Rule includes several new categories, excludes a few, requires more stringent VOC limits for existing categories, has revised definition language, and an optional 3 year sell through limit for existing products that do not comply with VOC limits. The new Model Rule has been posted on the OTC website for public comment with a deadline of May 11, 2018. The Mobile Source Committee (MSC) began its work fulfilling the charge given to it at 2017 Fall Meeting. The MSC continued to follow developments with policies affecting aftermarket catalytic converters including having conversations with EPA including Regions 1, 2 and 3 in response to the resolution adopted by the Committee at the Spring Meeting. The MSC finished work on recommendations on policies to reduce vehicle idling regionally and continued work on an idling educational toolkit. The MSC completed collection of survey data concerning state progress in implementing several programs and initiatives. Finally, the MSC developed preliminary estimates of emission reductions that could be achieved both inside and outside the OTR. Both the SAS and MSC are working with a broad range of industry and other stakeholders, states and regional organizations both within and outside the OTR, and EPA offices to develop a framework for control measurement programs based on OTC Model Rules which are significant not only to eastern region but have national applicability in addressing the sources contributing to ozone formation and transport. In addition, on January 5, 2018 the OTC submitted its comments on EPA's Proposed Rule on the Repeal of Emission Requirements for Glider Vehicles, Glider Engines, and Glider Kits. OTC opposes the adoption of this Proposed Rule as it could potentially result in an increase in air pollution with adverse public health impacts. OTC continued its efforts in coordinating with EPA to discuss state implementation plan development and related issues. Discussions with non-OTR states included the progress of ERTAC (the Eastern Regional Technical Advisory Committee) focused on developing a model for electricity generation and emissions from EGUs, a tool that incorporates state collected data and information on EGUs, and how to coordinate with other Regional Planning Organizations (RPOs) on modeling work and the need for federal measures to enable some OTC states attain the 2008 and the 2015 Ozone NAAQS standards. The OTC also participated in the Federal/RPOs technical collaborative including participating in a workgroup that developed broad recommendations for the next base-year to use in modeling platforms. OTC is participating and providing leadership in a multi-regional and EPA collaborative approach to develop emissions inventories and the next photochemical modeling platform. The OTC and other states continue to rely on the 2011 modeling platform for making projections, particularly with control

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2018 OTC Modeling Committee The OTC Modeling Committee (MC) continued to its work on regional air quality modeling to assist OTC states efforts in meeting CAA Sec. 110(a)(2)(d) good neighbor provision to attain & maintain the 2015 ozone NAAQS through regionally-significant national measures developed in partnership with EPA. To fulfill the charge from the Commission, the MC is also working with the Stationary & Area Sources and the Mobile Sources Committees to model and compute emissions reductions that could be achieved from strategies identified in the Good Neighbor State Implementation Plan (GN SIP) Resolution which was adopted by the Commission last fall. The emissions reductions from these strategies which cover sources inside & outside of the OTR were used in photochemical modeling to help OTC states include these measures in their GN SIPs. The MC continued working on the next generation 2011-based modeling platform. This platform corresponds with EPA's updated modeling platform and uses EPA data, when appropriate, to maintain consistency and reduce costs. The MC continued work to assist states in SIP planning for potential bump ups to serious nonattainment for the 2008 ozone NAAQS and for complete 110(a)(2)(d) good neighbor SIPs for the 2008 and 2015 ozone NAAQS. Despite improvements in air quality, large and densely populated areas of the OTC are and forecasted to continue to experience unhealthy levels of ozone. The MC has also started working on the development of 2016 modeling platform in collaboration with Mid-Atlantic Regional Air Management Association (MARAMA). The MC began the photochemical source apportionment modeling of the tagged 2020 and 2023 SIP quality emission inventories (developed in collaboration with MARAMA and OTC member states) from nearly 400 source sectors modeling to evaluate their respective contributions to ozone and pollutant transport. The MC finalized a health benefits roll-back analysis using 2013-2016 monitored ozone data and presented the paper for stakeholder comment. Training using the EPA health benefits rollback analysis is anticipated. The MC is also continuing to work with EPA Region 1 through a workgroup to design regionally coordinated approaches to Enhanced Monitoring Plans (EMPs) due in 2019 that would provide a holistic look at the Ozone Transport Region (OTR). The MC reviewed several academic research papers that could impact future modeling efforts and also identified additional air quality and modeling research issues that impact ozone formation and transport. It also continues to advocate for additional research on air quality and modeling transport to fully evaluate the land-water interface issues and understand ozone aloft, intrusion and mixing across the OTR. OTC Stationary and Area Source Committee. During this quarter, the Stationary and Area Source (SAS) Committee workgroups worked to complete the charges given by the Commission at the 2017 Fall Meeting. In addressing the standing SAS charge requiring periodic updates of the OTC Model Rule on Consumer Products based on California standards, the Consumer Products Workgroup has finalized the Phase V Rule after addressing stakeholder comments received during the public review process. The new Phase V Model Rule includes several new categories, excludes a few, requires more stringent VOC limits for existing categories, has revised definition language, and an optional 3 year sell through limit for existing products that do not comply with VOC limits. As part of the charge requiring the Committee to perform technical analyses to calculate & document emissions reductions and develop cost estimates for the three SAS strategies formalized in the GN SIP Resolution, the Largest Contributors workgroup finalized its recommendations of control limits for optimal operation of existing post combustion controls (SCR or SNCR) or their installation & optimal use on uncontrolled coal-fired EGUs each day of ozone season. Results of photochemical modeling screening runs and the cost effectiveness of the recommended controls were just obtained in late June. The Control Measures Workgroup is continuing its work on the 3rd GN SIP strategy related to emissions reductions from adopting the OTC Model Rule for Control of NOx Emissions From Natural Gas Pipeline Compressor Fuel-Fired Prime Movers. The Workgroup is expected to forward its recommended controls and limits to the MC to input in the screening modeling runs in late August. Mobile Source Committee The Mobile Source Committee (MSC) completed its work on the 2017 charge related to the two GN SIP strategies for mobile sources. The MSC continued to follow developments with policies affecting aftermarket catalytic converters including having conversations with EPA including Regions 1, 2 and 3 in response to the resolution adopted by the Committee at the Spring Meeting. The MSC finished work on recommendations on policies to reduce vehicle idling regionally and continued work on an idling educational toolkit. The MSC completed collection of survey data concerning state progress in implementing several programs and initiatives. Finally, the MSC developed preliminary estimates of emission reductions that could be achieved both inside and outside the OTR from the use of aftermarket catalytic converters, which have been input in MCs screening modeling run for combined GN SIP strategies. Both the SAS and MSC are working with diverse industry and other stakeholders, states and regional organizations within and outside the OTR, and regional EPA offices to develop a framework for NOx control measures, based on OTC Model Rules & modeling analyses, which are significant not only to eastern region but also the entire country in addressing the sources contributing to ozone formation and transport. Consultation and Collaboration with EPA and with States outside the Ozone Transport Region During this quarter, OTC continued its efforts in coordinating with EPA to discuss state implementation plan development and related issues. The CAA section 110, or Good Neighbor SIPs continue to be a primary focus for technical and policy level work and discussions. Discussions with non-OTR states included the progress of ERTAC (the Eastern Regional Technical Advisory Committee) focused on developing a model for electricity generation and emissions from EGUs, a tool that incorporates state collected data and information on EGUs, and how to coordinate with other Regional Planning Organizations (RPOs) on modeling work and the need for federal measures to enable some OTC states attain the 2008 and the 2015 Ozone NAAQS standards. The OTC also participated in the Federal/RPOs technical collaborative including participating in a workgroup that developed broad recommendations for the next base-year (2016) to use in modeling platforms. OTC is participating and providing leadership in a multi-regional and EPA collaborative approach to develop emissions inventories and the next photochemical modeling platform. The OTC and other states continue to rely on the 2011 modeling platform for making projections, particularly with control measures applied. The OTC Modeling Committee and staff provide critical work to ensure the regions technical analysis and decision-making are using the best modeling available.

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

Law 95-95, 42 USC Code 7401 et seq.

OBJECTIVES:

To support Surveys, Studies, Research, Investigations, Demonstrations and Special Purpose assistance relating to the causes, effects (including health and welfare effects), extent, prevention, and control of air pollution to include such topics as air quality, acid deposition, global programs, indoor environments, radiation, mobile source technology and community-driven approaches to transportation and emissions reduction. Projects should also focus on addressing environmental justice (EJ) concerns in communities. EJ is the fair treatment and meaningful involvement of all people regardless of race, color, national origin, or income with respect to the development, implementation, and enforcement of environmental laws, regulations, and policies. Funding Priorities for 2018(1) Community-Scale Air Toxics Ambient Monitoring (CSATAM). The CSATAM Grant Program results in two-year projects designed to assist state, local and tribal communities in identifying and profiling air toxics sources, characterizing the degree and extent of local air toxics problems and tracking progress of air toxics reduction activities in specific local areas without reliance on often uncertain estimates of emissions and air dispersion models. Further, projects typically allow the recipient state, local and tribal air pollution control agencies to establish or enhance hazardous air pollutant monitoring networks, thus providing long term capability to investigate and assess specific local air quality scenarios of concern. The program will continue working with grant recipients that received funding in previous years. (2) Green House Gas (GHG) reporting program: The Climate Change Division (CCD) supports the Greenhouse Gas Reporting program that will help facilities that participate in state-based and federal GHG reporting programs better understand the requirements of state GHG reporting programs in comparison to the federal rule. CCD will also continue to provide technical, analytical, and scientific support for the regulatory action consistent with Presidential Executive Order on Promoting Energy Independence and Economic Growth dated March 28, 2017, including GHG-related economic and science analyses. (3) Global Green Freight Supply Chain Demonstration. The program provides technical support, management and oversight in implementing outreach, analysis and capacity building for international green freight programs. The goal is to provide assistance to nations seeking to develop sustainable freight transport and thereby, increase efficiencies to reduce greenhouse gases and black carbon. Funding Priorities for 2019(1) Global Green Freight Supply Chain Demonstration. The program provides technical support, management and oversight in implementing outreach, analysis and capacity building for international green freight programs. The goal is to provide assistance to nations seeking to develop sustainable freight transport and thereby, increase efficiencies to reduce greenhouse gases and black carbon. (2) The NATTS program will continue to operate and maintain the 27 national air toxics trends stations. The program also includes four supplemental program components: quality assurance, methods and instrumentation, sample and equipment shipping and handling, and data analyses using all available ambient air quality data for toxics with special emphasis on observations from the NATTS and community-scale monitoring programs. The NATTS program will continue to build on the established quality assurance and methods protocols. Laboratory and field staff will continue to work with EPA to ascertain the optimum methods for capturing and analyzing core pollutants associated with risk, develop performance based quality indicators to prove valid data results that will contribute to our understanding of risks, and stabilize the measurements for all NATTS sites so that comparisons across the nation can be made. The analytical community will continue to assess trends in air toxics concentration levels, relate those data to associated risk levels, and explore relationships between these ambient and risk levels to emission sources and changes in these levels to emission reduction efforts. (3) The Climate Change Division (CCD) supports the Atmospheric Protection Program by conducting a range of economic, scientific and technical analyses for Clean Air Act (CAA) regulatory actions and technical input consistent with Presidential Executive Order on Promoting Energy Independence and Economic Growth dated March 28, 2017, including GHG-related economic and science analyses. (4) The Climate Protection Partnerships Division (CPPD) supports the Atmospheric Protection Program by through voluntary public-private partnership programs designed to save American businesses and consumers energy and money through energy efficiency. Our programs work by overcoming widely acknowledged barriers to energy efficiency: lack of clear, reliable information on technology opportunities; lack of awareness of energy efficient products and services; lack of financing options to turn lifecycle energy savings into initial cost savings for consumers; and low incentives to manufacturers for efficiency research and development. In addition, our programs provide technical assistance, training, information exchange and other forms of cooperation to enhance the capabilities of governments and other stakeholders to protect human health and the environment regionally and globally. (5) Community-Scale Air Toxics Ambient Monitoring (CSATAM). The CSATAM Grant Program results in two-year projects designed to assist state, local and tribal communities in identifying and profiling air toxics sources, characterizing the degree and extent of local air toxics problems and tracking progress of air toxics reduction activities in specific local areas without reliance on often uncertain estimates of emissions and air dispersion models. Further, projects typically allow the recipient state, local and tribal air pollution control agencies to establish or enhance hazardous air pollutant monitoring networks, thus providing long term capability to investigate and assess specific local air quality scenarios of concern. The program will continue working with grant recipients that received funding in previous years and the Agency may announce an Request for Applications in FY 19 depending on availability of funding. (6) Fine Particle (PM_{2.5}) Monitoring. The PM_{2.5} monitoring network includes three well-established components: the network of filter-based monitors used for comparison to the NAAQS; continuous mass monitors used primarily for public reporting of the Air Quality Index, but also for comparison to the NAAQS when continuous monitors are employed; and speciation samplers operated as part of the Chemical Speciation Network (CSN) program that are used to characterize the chemical composition that makes up fine particulate matter. The CSN includes the Speciation Trends Network and supplemental speciation sites. (7) National Internet-based On-Board Diagnostics (OBD) Information Exchange-National OBD Clearinghouse. To support an information clearinghouse which provides state vehicle emission inspection and maintenance (I/M) programs with technical information needed to successfully implement onboard diagnostic (OBD) testing.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2017 Projects include providing comprehensive air quality policy and regulatory analysis consisting of support and national coordination activities to assist tribes in understanding, participating in and responding to US EPA's Office of Air and Radiation (OAR) policy and regulatory activities; ensuring American Indian students, educators, and communities are properly informed of, and provided with opportunities to participate in, and pursue environmental careers in the field of air quality management; the American Indian Air Quality Training Program (AIAQTP), which includes workshop training, internships and technical support to tribal governments seeking to investigate, develop and establish air quality management programs for lands under their jurisdiction. The AIAQTP program will also include outreach to local communities on air quality and related environmental justice issues and the development of a website to disseminate the environmental education curriculum. The Tribal Training Support for the Community and Tribal Programs project supported trainings on New Source Review (NSR) and Title V Permits, Air Quality Planning for Wildland Smoke and Understanding the Oil and Gas Industry. Attendees learned about the purpose and requirements of the different permit programs, e.g., major/minor NSR, Prevention of Significant Deterioration (PSD), Title V. They reviewed actual permits and learned about applicability, control technology, monitoring, record keeping and reporting, and enforceability. Attendees learned how to develop a strategy for impacting the development of permits. The Wildland Smoke training was a one-day workshop, in conjunction with a national tribal meeting, where participants learned about sources of smoke and how to prepare their tribal community when a wild fire/smoke event happens. Student Program for Environmental Excellence in Design (SPEED) program: (1) Comprehensive survey of GDI particle characteristics, by size selecting sampling and characterization of soot nanostructure, soot composition and soot surface chemical species(2) Dry run testing using both a complex (CO₂-CO-NO_x-N₂) blend and a dual (CO₂-N₂) blend for all 8 compounds. (3)The SPEED team sponsored a ME 450 project for Winter 2017 on the subject of carbon dioxide capture from vehicle exhaust, building upon a ME 450 project supervised in the Fall 2016 term. Another ME 450 team sponsored in the Winter 2017 term worked on a system to desorb and purge the carbon dioxide captured within the device developed by the Fall 2016 team. (4) Undergraduate student teams performed analysis that compared the observed travel behavior of respondents to their stated willingness to use connected and automated vehicles (CAVs) to complete their trips. (5) an experimental investigation of electrocatalysis, (6) a life cycle assessment of the overarching bioenergy system starting with poplar cultivation, and (7) the development of a policy framework that, if implemented, would provide value for the carbon that is present in the biochar co-product of pyrolysis. 2018 1. Air Quality Planning for Wildland Smoke provided 5 pre-webinars and an in-person class. 2. Treatment As a State training. 3. National Tribal Forum on Air Quality provided a session on Treatment As a State (TAS) training. 4. Developed a Permit training which includes 2 pre-webinars, Overview of the Clean Air Act and Overview of the Clean Air Act Permitting Program and an in-person class. 5. Ongoing technical support and training for the Tribal Environmental Exchange (TREX) Network assists tribes in data retrieval, validation and submission to national networks like AIRNow and AQS. American Indian Air Quality Training Program (AIAQTP) provided workshop training, internships and technical support to tribal governments seeking to investigate, develop and establish air quality management programs for lands under their jurisdiction. Also, outreach to local communities on air quality and related environmental justice issues and the development of a website to disseminate the environmental education curriculum. 2019 1. State Implementation Plan training 2. Community training on a specifically requested topic in a specific community still TBD. 3. National (NTF) meeting. 4. Continued support for TREX. 5. Tribal CAA 103 Project Grants,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY

AUTHORIZATION:

, Title Clean Air Act, Section 103(b)(3), 42 USC Code 7403.

OBJECTIVES:

To support Federally-recognized Indian Tribes' efforts to understand, assess and characterize air quality; design methods and plans to protect and improve air quality on tribal lands through surveys, studies, research, training, investigations, and special purpose activities. To ensure tribes have appropriate levels of support and opportunity to understand their air quality and take proactive measures to preserve, restore and protect air quality for their reservations and other lands over which they have jurisdiction through tribal program implementation, CAA implementation, radiation protection, mobile source controls, and voluntary programs to address outdoor and indoor air and other concerns. To ensure that all tribes have the tools they need to understand and participate in local, regional and national issues, regulatory and policy developments, and to protect their air quality from activities off the reservation that may affect or impact them. To improve the ability of tribes to understand, define, design and participate in activities that affect their air quality. Projects should focus on and be consistent with the EPA policy on Environmental Justice for Tribes and Indigenous Peoples. Environmental Justice is the fair treatment and meaningful involvement of all people regardless of race, color, national origin, or income with respect to the development, implementation, and enforcement of environmental laws, regulations, and policies. Funding Priorities for 2019 - EPA and Tribes, in partnership, will protect public health, the environment, and unique Tribal air resources, consistent with the CAA, its Amendments, and EPA's trust responsibilities. This program will ensure Tribes have appropriate levels of support and opportunity to understand their own air quality and take proactive measures to preserve, restore, and protect air quality for their reservations and other lands over which they have jurisdiction through CAA implementation, radiation protection, mobile source controls, and voluntary programs to address air quality, climate change and other concerns. Activities will ensure that all Tribes have the tools they need to understand and participate in local, regional, and national issues and to protect their air quality from changes off reservation that may impact them. Key activities include: (1) Training and Program Development - this area includes technical, administrative, and policy related training conducted in-person, on-line, and/or by any remote technological method supporting the enhancement of skills that contribute to development of tribal air quality management activities; (2) Assessment and Monitoring - activities related to assessment may include short or long term efforts to define, design, understand, and assess in a qualitative or quantitative manner (such as through an emission or source inventory) the impacts of air pollutants to human health, the environment, and items of cultural importance. Monitoring includes numerous activities that gather data about the state of the environment and measuring the concentrations and potential effects of criteria and/or toxic air pollutants; (3) Developing capacity or a plan for eligibility under the Tribal Authority Rule - developing capacity includes activities that increase the experience and expertise of tribes to understand and assess air quality, including technical, administrative, policy, regulatory, education and outreach, communication skills, training, and building contacts, networks and experience. Capacity includes carrying-out these programs and activities, interacting with the national air program and providing input, guidance, and perspective to efforts to develop policies, regulations, and guidance at the local, regional, and national level including reading, report writing, grant writing and reporting, budgeting, public speaking, developing presentations, preparing comments, editing documents, operating and maintaining equipment, and participating in meetings. Developing a plan for eligibility under the Tribal Authority Rule (TAR) includes report reading and writing, grant writing and reporting, budgeting, public speaking, presentation development, comment preparation, document editing, equipment operation and maintenance, and meeting participation; (4) Delegation or Ongoing Capability Development - This activity includes developing technical, administrative, and management skills, knowledge, and abilities through experience, training, and education to enable activities such as reading and interpreting federal regulations, operating equipment, preparing and presenting technical information and reports, interacting with tribal communities and governments, federal bureaucrats and bureaucracy, providing outreach and education, public speaking, conducting public hearings, collecting and analyzing data, developing plans and innovative approaches to pollution control in a culturally sensitive manner; and (5) Tribal Implementation Plan development - tribes may conduct all aspects of air quality management at an advanced level, including developing lists of sources by category, conducting emission inventories and emission estimating, data analysis, analyzing, interpreting and commenting on administrative and regulatory requirements and activities at local, state, regional and national levels, developing advanced technical, policy and planning document preparation, developing an enforcement and inspection program, and tribal government representation.

DERA authorizes EPA to award grants, rebates and low-cost revolving loans to eligible entities to fund the costs of a retrofit technology that significantly reduces diesel emissions. Emission reductions are achieved through the implementation of a certified engine configuration, verified technology, or emerging technology for buses (including school buses), medium heavy-duty or heavy heavy-duty diesel trucks, marine engines, locomotives, or nonroad engines or diesel vehicles or equipment used in construction, handling of cargo (including at port or airport), agriculture, mining, or energy production., Title Energy Policy Act of 2005, Part Title VII, Section Subtitle G, Public Law 109-58, 42 USC Code 16131.

OBJECTIVES:

The Diesel Emissions Reduction Act, 42 U.S.C. 16131 et seq., as amended, authorization includes the authority for EPA to award grants, rebates and low-cost revolving loans to eligible entities to fund the costs of a retrofit technology that significantly reduces emissions through implementation of a certified engine configuration, verified technology, or emerging technology for buses (including school buses), medium heavy-duty or heavy heavy-duty diesel trucks, marine engines, locomotives, or nonroad engines or diesel vehicles or equipment used in construction, handling of cargo (including at port or airport), agriculture, mining, or energy production. In addition, eligible entities may also use funds awarded for programs or projects to reduce long-duration idling using verified technology involving a vehicle or equipment described above. The objective of the assistance under this program is to achieve significant reductions in diesel emissions in terms of tons of pollution produced and reductions in diesel emissions exposure, particularly from fleets operating in areas designated by the Administrator as poor air quality areas. Projects should also focus on promoting environmental justice (EJ). EJ is the fair treatment and meaningful involvement of all people regardless of race, color, national origin, or income with respect to the development, implementation, and enforcement of environmental laws, regulations, and policies.

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

Funding Priority 2019: The National Clean Diesel Funding Assistance Program works to reduce the pollution emitted from diesel engines across the country through the implementation of various control strategies and involvement of national, state, local and private partners. Further, priority for funding may be given to projects which result in outcomes that benefit affected communities, those that engage local communities with respect to the design and performance of the project, and those which can demonstrate the ability to promote and continue efforts to reduce emissions after the project has ended. Poor air quality areas include areas in nonattainment or maintenance of national ambient air quality standards for PM_{2.5} and Ozone, and areas with toxic air pollutant concerns. In FY 2019, projects will be competed and funded under the Clean Diesel Funding Assistance Program FY 2019 Request for Proposals, and the Tribal Clean Diesel Funding Assistance Program FY 2019 Request for Proposals. 66.040 State Clean Diesel Grant Program

DERA State Program,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY

AUTHORIZATION:

The Diesel Emissions Reduction Act, 42 U.S.C. 16131 et seq., as amended, authorizes EPA to award grants, rebates and low-cost revolving loans to eligible entities to fund the costs of a retrofit technology that significantly reduces diesel emissions. Emission reductions are achieved through the implementation of a certified engine configuration, verified technology, or emerging technology for buses (including school buses), medium heavy-duty or heavy heavy-duty diesel trucks, marine engines, locomotives, or non-road engines or diesel vehicles or equipment used in construction, handling of cargo (including at port or airport), agriculture, mining, or energy production., Title Energy Policy Act of 2005, Part VII, Section Subtitle G, 42 USC Code 1613 et seq..

OBJECTIVES:

The Diesel Emissions Reduction Act, 42 U.S.C. 16131 et seq., as amended, authorizes EPA to award assistance agreements to States to develop and implement such grant, rebates, and low-cost revolving loan programs in the State as are appropriate to meet State needs and goals relating to the reduction of diesel emissions. Projects should also focus on promoting environmental justice (EJ). EJ is the fair treatment and meaningful involvement of all people regardless of race, color, national origin, or income with respect to the development, implementation, and enforcement of environmental laws, regulations, and policies. Funding Priority 2019: In providing grants, rebates, and loans under this program, States must give priority to projects which: Maximize public health benefits; Are the most cost-effective; Serve areas with the highest population density, that are poor air quality areas (including nonattainment or maintenance of national ambient air quality standards for a criteria pollutant; Federal Class I areas; or areas with toxic air pollutant concerns); Serve areas that receive a disproportionate quantity of air pollution from diesel fleets, including truck stops, ports, rail yards, terminals, construction sites, schools, and distribution centers or that use a community-based multi-stakeholder collaborative process to reduce toxic emissions; will only include a certified engine configuration or verified technology that has a long expected useful life; Maximize the useful life of any certified engine configuration or verified technology used or funded by the eligible entity; and Conserve diesel fuel.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Formula Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Grants and cooperative agreements are available to support the development and implementation of such grant, rebate, and low-cost revolving loan programs in a State as are appropriate to meet State needs and goals relating to the reduction of diesel emissions. A grant, rebate, or loan funded by the State using funds from the DERA State Program must be used for projects involving EPA-verified and/or California Air Resources Board (CARB) verified diesel emissions reduction technologies and/or EPA certified engines. Funds received under the DERA National Program (see CFDA 66.039) may not be used to pay a matching share under this program. States must use the same statutory priorities as the national competitive program when selecting projects. States receiving funding under this program must comply with public notification requirements. Additional project eligibility and use restrictions may be defined in program guidance.

Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory Formula: Title 42 U.S.C. 16133(c), Chapter , Part , Subpart ,Public Law .Matching Requirements: Percent: 0%. This program has a statutory allocation formula (42 U.S.C. 16133(c)). There is no statutory match requirement for this program. However, there is a statutory incentive match provision (42 U.S.C. 16133(c)(3)). Program guidance may restrict the eligibility and amount of grant funds that may be used for certain types of projects. There is no statutory requirement for a matching contribution from applicants. Any voluntary matching funds provide by the state to qualify for the matching incentive are included in the EPA funds and state voluntary matching funds described below. Mandatory cost-share funds provided by the state and/or eligible third parties cannot count towards the states voluntary matching funds to qualify for the matching incentive. However, if a state requires a third-party cost-share contribution above and beyond the mandatory cost-share amount for the elected technology, then the excess cost-share may be applied towards the state voluntary match funds for the purpose of qualifying for the matching incentive. The recipient may not use EPA funds and state voluntary matching funds to provide more than the cost-share percentages outlined below, as applicable, of the final equipment costs. Recipients must satisfy any applicable cost-share requirements with allowable costs as set forth in 2 CFR 200.306. The cost-share requirements are as follows: Engine Upgrades: EPA funds and state voluntary matching funds can cover up to 40% of the cost (labor and equipment) of an eligible engine upgrade; states and/or eligible third parties are responsible for the mandatory cost-share of at least 60% of the cost of an eligible engine upgrade. 66.041 Climate Showcase Communities Grant Program

FEDERAL AGENCY:

ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY

AUTHORIZATION:

, Title FY2009 Appropriations Act, Public Law 111-8, , Title FY 2010 Appropriations Act, Public Law 111-117

OBJECTIVES:

Public Law 111-8 authorizes EPA to award competitive grants to communities to develop plans and demonstrate and implement projects which reduce greenhouse gas emissions. EPA will implement this grant authority by awarding grants to local and tribal governments for Planning, Demonstrations, and Implementation Projects designed to address climate change by reducing greenhouse gas emissions. Such projects should include a plan for measuring documentable reductions in greenhouse gas emissions and exhibit the capacity for replication. Grant activities should aim to: 1) reduce emissions of greenhouse gases; 2) build capacity within local and tribal agencies to address greenhouse gas emissions within their communities; 3) create meaningful and sustainable programs and management systems to achieve ongoing reductions; 4) link climate change initiatives with broader environmental, economic, and social concerns; 5) build and leverage partnerships across multiple stakeholder groups that facilitate front-end participation by communities impacted by climate change; and 6) create models of success that can be replicated across the nation. Projects should also focus on addressing environmental justice (EJ) concerns in communities.
